FOCUS ON EXHIBITORS

Charming Gifts

"This is our fourth visit to the fair, and we're very excited about it," says Ms Crystal M. Shafiabady, Director of Marketing & Sales at De La Selva of Guatemala. "We always enjoy this fair and over the years we have met lots of new customers here, including those from the US and Australia." De La Selva is a producer and exporter of handicrafts made by the indigenous Mayan people of Guatemala. "We've got lots of new items this year, such as the Mayan charms and tic tac toe games. There are eight designs of lucky charms, including corn, frogs and pottery jars - the packaging carries an explanation of the meaning of each charm. The tic tac toe sets feature pieces in the shape of toads and turtles or serpents and crocodiles," she says.
